COOLIDGE ECONOMY STATEMENT REFUTED IN HOUSE.

TOO MANY GOVERNMENT WORKERS—REP. WOOD

Not In Accord With President Coolidge That "the Limit of Economy Has Been Reached and People Must Not Expect Further Reductions."

Washington.—The $867,852,000 treasury-postoffice appropriation bill for the next fiscal year was started on its journey through the house with discussion by congressmen of a wide variety of topics not connected with the bill.

Representative Byrns, Democrat, of Tennessee, ranking Democratic member of the appropriation committee, discussing money demands for government needs, said he was not in accord with President Coolidge that "the limit of economy had been reached and the people must not expect reductions in the future."

Byrns said that Senator Curtis, Republican senate leader, had stated recently that appropriations could be further reduced $300,000,000 by government economies.

"Representative Wood, Indiana, a distinguished Republican leader, says he believes we would dispense with 20 per cent of the present number of government workers in Washington," said Byrns. "They have an opportunity to render the taxpayers a great service and make the so-called Coolidge economy really effective, for the estimates for 1927 promises very little reduction in the number of employees.

"The tax reductions have been made on the high war taxes with which the people were burdened during the war, and the pending revenue measure contemplates the retention of a number of special taxes levied for carrying on the war."

Byrns gave credit to congress for cutting expenditures. He said during the four years of the budget its estimates had been reduced by congress by $344,724,429, representing a saving to the taxpayers.

The total estimates to meet the needs of government in 1927 submitted by President Coolidge, amount to $3,896,207,921, an increase of $154,420,861 over appropriations for the current year.

Exclusive of the postal service the total 1927 estimates were $3,156,100,358, or $50,612,713 more than 1926 appropriations.

POPE CONFERS RED HOT ON CARDINALS

Rome.—At a public consistory the red hat was conferred on cardinals created in the consistory of March 30, last, and in the secret consistory of last Monday. This function was attended by sixty thousand pilgrims, the largest throng since the time of Leo XIII. Pius XI was carried in on the sedia gestatoria, flanked by the flabelli, gorgeous feather fans.

Pius XI solemnly repeated for each new cardinal the formula "Accipe galerum rubrum," while a master of ceremonies held the red hat in turn over the head of each.

Those who received the red hats were: Cardinals Eustachio Ilundain y Esteban, archbishop of Seville; Vincenzo Casanova y Marzol, archbishop of Granada; Alessandro Verde, secretary of the congregation of Rites; Enrico Gasparri, former apostolic nuncio in Brazil, and Patrick O'Donnell, archbishop of Armagh.

Koch Gives Up Cabinet Task

Berlin.—President von Hindenburg's efforts to establish a truce among the German political parties by the formation of a coalition government have foundered upon the refusal of the radicals to identify themselves with a cabinet which includes Dr. Stresemann's People's party. Resuming his negotiations, Dr. Errich Koch, who had been chosen for the chancellorship, was informed by Hermann Mueller, the Socialist leader, that his party could not join in the proposed governmental bloc. Dr. Koch immediately notified President von Hindenburg of his inability to form the desired ministry. The reichstag recessed for the holidays until January 12.

Engineers Demand Better Pay

New York.—Municipal engineers of Toronto, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and San Francisco demand "commensurate recognition and compensation." In addition to increased pay and better working conditions, the engineers are seeking acknowledgment by the city fathers of their professional standing in the municipal machine.

ANTI WET GROUP FLAYED IN HOUSE

VOLSTEAD ACT ASSAILED BY PENNSYLVANIA SOLON.

DRY LAW BREAKING DOWN ENFORCEMENT

"State and Federal Governments Have Spent Millions Trying to Enforce the Law and Now Admit Failure," Says Representative Vare.

Washington.—The Volstead act was assailed in the house recently by Representative Vare, Republican, of Pennsylvania, as an unenforceable law.

"The people don't want to be bone dry," he said.

"States and the federal government have spent millions trying to enforce the law and now admit failure."

The increasing consumption of bootleg liquor, he said, proved that the dry law was breaking down all law enforcement. He advocated legalizing 2.75 per cent beer.

Another attack on the dry regime was delivered by Representative Gallivan, Democrat, Massachusetts, who denounced Wayne B. Wheeler and the Anti-Saloon league as the backbone of a "vicious system which is destroying the soul and conscience of America."

"There are certain organizations, some of which have the audacity to characterize themselves as 'churches and branches of the Christian religion,'" said Gallivan. "As a matter of fact, we learn that they are merely noisy aggregations of greedy bigots with ecclesiastical titles.

"These political and quasi-religious organizations scoff at the Holy Scriptures; they preach to their credulous and ignorant rabble followers that the mircle that changed water into wine was a crime, and they believe they can repeat the miracle of the loaves and fishes by capturing the treasury of the country.

"These dancing dervishes of the American branch of Mahomet's religion constitute the vociferous army of prohibition shock troops."

Wheeler, he said, could not rise in his place, "and say, with one of our Lord Castlereagh's devoted disciples, 'Thank God, I have a country to buy and sell.'"

INHERITANCE TAX CUT IS ACCEPTED

Washington.—Amid a display of oratorical fireworks, the house accepted the modified inheritance tax rates provided in the non-partisan revenue bill.

The seventh consecutive legislative day of consideration of the measure was devoted entirely to this tax, but as amendments continued to be mowed down with overwhelming majorities, tired members gave vent to their feelings in sharp remarks on several subjects.

The section approved provides for a cut in the maximum inheritance tax from 40 to 20 per cent, applying on amounts in excess of $10,000,000, with corresponding reductions in the lower brackets, which graduate downward to 1 per cent on the second $50,000 of an inheritance. It also increases from 25 to 80 per cent the credit to be allowed in federal inheritance tax settlements for amounts paid on similar state taxes.

An amendment, proposed by Representative Ramseyer, Republican, Iowa, to increase rates in the bill to a maximum of 30 per cent, was rejected, 54 to 179. Record votes were not even necessary to defeat amendments seeking to decrease the amount of state tax credit to 50 per cent and to 45 per cent.

Dowager Queen Has Pleurisy

Bordighera, Italy.—Dowager Queen Margarita of Italy, mother of King Victor Emmanual, has been stricken with pleurisy. The queen is 74 years old and her condition is causing anxiety. Her brother, the Duke of Genoa, was hastily called to her bedside. The king and queen in Rome are being advised frequently of the dowager queen's progress and the crown prince has ordered services in the church at Turin for the recovery of his grandmother.

Valentino's Wife Sues for Divorce

Paris.—The Paris courts have received a petition from Winifred de Wolff, asking for a divorce from Rodolfo Guglielmo, whom she married at Crown Point, Ind., in March, 1923. In other words, Natacha Rambova and Rudolph Valentino, who have long since admitted that their flashy celluloid romance has gone up in smoke, are having the legal ties severed.

London.—Sir George Stegmann Gibb, 75, former managing director of the underground electric railway companies of London, is dead.

News of Interest to All

The citizens of Novato have petitioned the Marin county board of supervisors, asking for the formation of a lighting district. The proposed district is to cover the greater part of the town and runs beyond the high school on the Point Reyes road.

A 400-pound cinnamon bear in an automobile on the Lindsay streets attracted considerable attention. The animal had been trapped and killed above Mountain Home by J. F. Bateman of Tulae, Tulare county, who stopped on his way home and displayed his kill.

Dredging of the Sacramento river in California to a depth of ten feet from its mouth to the city of Sacamento was declared inadvisable in a report submitted to congress by Major General Taylor, chief of engineers. He recommended, however, that a lock and dam be constructed at Freeport at a cost of $2,679,000 to attain the same purpose.

At a cost of $12,000 the Pacific Gas and Electric company is laying a new 16-inch main between the Jenny creek pumping plant and the reservoir at Redding, Siskiyou county. The distance is 2,400 feet. The old wooden stave pipe that was put in twenty years ago is proving unsatisfactory on account of the many leaks that come from time to time.

Bank deposits at the call of the state treasury in 220 banks located throughout the state, totaled $21,821,500 at the close of the fiscal year, according to a statement of Charles G. Johnson, state treasurer. These deposits yielded a revenue of approximately $690,549, which was nearly 52 per cent in excess of the previous high revenue from such sources.

That San Francisco and the bay region will have another record-breaking year in building construction is the prediction of the Architect and Engineer magazine in its annual building forecast, published in its December number. The magazine estimates that there will be from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000 expended during the year 1926 in building development.

John Tyler Grigsby, 80, said to be California's oldest native son of Anglo-Saxon parents, died at his home in Yountville, Napa county, recently. Grigsby was the son of one of the California Republic's founders, Captain John Grigsby, who helped to raise the Bear flag at Sonoma on June 14, 1846. His mother, Cynthia Grigsby, designed the flag with the aid of another woman. Mrs. John Sears.

Sacramento's new $1,000,000 [illegible] terminal will be completed and ready for occupancy by the Southern Pacific company on January 1, it was announced by F. E. Nicholsen, building contractor. The announcement said lawns, trees and fountains in front of the terminal and a 100-foot driveway leading to the main entrance from Sixth street will make the building one of the show places of Sacramento.

"Grandma" Susanna Stevens has celebrated her 104th birthday at the home of her son, E. R. Stevens, at Del Mar. Mrs. Stevens is well known in San Diego because of her activities at public gatherings and in politics. She has voted at every election since the right of franchise was given to women. "Grandma" has seventeen grandchildren and twenty-six great grandchildren and is still hale and hearty.

First definite action toward building a municipal natatorium for Marysville was taken when the city council adopted a resolution of intention to build a swimming pool at a cost not to exceed $50,000 and to issue bonds to pay for it. The matter will go on the ballot in the city election January 18. George C. Sellon of Sacramento has been appointed architect and engineer to prepare and supervise plans for the pool.

Buried beneath three feet of loose earth, Earl Forderhase of Sutter City, is alive today to relate his experience. Forderhase was at work on the east levee of the Sutter by-pass when a cavein covered him. Fellow workmen missed him after a moment and, fearing that he might have been buried, began to rapidly excavate the site of the collapse. Forderhase had not lost consciousness when the rescuers reached him.

E. H. Wiemers, who has a ranch in Palo Verde valley, two miles north of Blythe, is probably the only rancher in Riverside county who raises pomegranates on a commercial scale and ships them in carlots. From his 5-acre orchard Mr. Wiemers produces some of the largest pomegranates to be found on the market. He recently shipped an entire carload to Los Angeles. From fruit which cannot be shipped he makes unfermented fruit juice of excellent flavor and color.

CLUB CHRISTMAS MEETING

The Christmas meeting of the Country Woman's Club was held Monday afternoon in the Community room, which was beautifully decorated with Christmas greens and berries. Around the foot of a wonderful Christmas tree glistening with tinsel and gleaming with lights, were piled the gay Christmas parcels, all directed to the one recipient, the community room and the kitchen. Chief of interest of the items of business were the reports from the County Federation meeting held Dec. 9,th in Palo Alto, which a number of the club attended. Several of the clubs are interested in sending needed gifts to the Veteran's hospitals and as this club is in the district allotted to the hospital at Palo Alto, the club voted to send a gift of a dozen pairs of woolen socks, as that is what was called for. Mrs. D. H. Cramer was appointed to attend to the purchasing.

The program was on Drama and Mrs. Ross as chairman introduced Miss Phoebe Pugh, of the senior class of the Campbell High School, who gave a very enlightening talk on that subject, beginning with early history. In the twelfth century there were religious dramas given in Latin, followed in the fifteenth and sixteenth century by mystery and miracle plays, continuing by gradual development to the elaborate plays of today.

It was a delightful intimate talk, illustrated with a sketch of one of the early type of theaters, a building open to the sky and with no facility for change of scenery.

Play houses were closed toward the last of the Elizabethan period by Act of Parliament, because they were considered detrimental to the people.

A pleasant divertisement was the singing of Christmas carols by the club, Mrs.Shadle leading and Mrs. Robison presiding at the piano. Mrs. Ross read from the drama. "The Fool" by Pollock, descriptive passages filling in the space between vivid scenes of the play.

The intense feeling in the play was well expressed by the earnest expressiona nd fine enunciation of the reader, and the work with its fine lesson was greatly enjoyed, and was followed by the singing of the Christmas hymn with which it ends. During the social hour the Committee opened the packages, which contained many desirable things of every description for use in the kitchen and library.

Mrs. Withers and Mrs. E. R. Kennedy were the other members of the committee, who were responsible for the attractive decorations and music and the social hour.

SANTA CLARA VALLEY ROSE GARDEN OF THE WORLD

"Santa Clara Valley Rose Garden of the World" is the slogan selected by the Publicity Committee of the Santa Clara Valley Carnival of Roses as the first prize winner. About thirty of the contestants sent in the prize winning slogan and the prize was awarded to Frank Ring of Los Gatos because his contribution was the first one received by the committees.

The slogan receiving the second prize was sent in by Elizabeth S. Burke of Mountain View, the slogan which she suggested was "Santa Clara Valley the World's Rose Garden." "Santa Clara Valley Rose O' the World" was the slogan submitted by Bessie Bowman of San Jose is the winner of the third prize. The prize winning slogan will be presented by the publicity committee to the general carnival committee at its meeting next Tuesday morning. Vote will be taken by the general committee at that time to decide if this slogan is to be adopted as the official slogan of the Santa Clara Valley Carnival of Roses.

The committee urges that every householder who has not yet planted roess do so within the next ten days so that they will bloom in time for the Carnival in May. Thousands of visitors are expected to come to the valley during the Carnival of Roses and if every home owner in the county has set out plants they will have contributed much towards the success of the affair by impressing the visitors with a whole valely literally blooming like a rose.

Any girl living in the valley will be eligible to be elected by vote as queen of the carnival, definite plans have not been decided but will be announced shortly. Not only the queen but also her atendants will be elected by vote. Each city and town in the valley is to be represented in the royal party by an attendant to the queee and the royal party will ride in state in the big floral parade.

The committee has decided to divide the three days of the carnival according to the history of the valley. They will ask Santa Clara University to portray the earliest period on the first day of the carnival; the second day will deal with the beginning of the state government in California while the present time will be shown upon the last day. The State Teachers College is preparing a pageant which will take place on the afternoon of May 21. On the evening of May 22 carnival night will be celebrated. Buildings on the carnival grounds will be arranged according to the historical acounts and pictures of San Jose as a pueblo. The portrayal of the old Spanish buildings and scenes will be enjoyed as well as the concessions which will be the center of much gaiety.

The rose planting committee, of which Mrs. Fremont Older is chairman, will not end its activities even though thousands of rose bushes have been planted in the county. Beginning the third week in January they will make inspections every two weeks to make sure the bushes planted in the school grounds are receiving the proper care.

The Kiwanis Club of San Jose at its luncheon meeting of Monday unanimously endorsed the Santa Clara Valley Carnival of Roses and each member present promised to give the proposition his whole-hearted support and it is expected that the other Kiwanis Clubs in the County will take similar action and follow their resolutions up with some real hard work which will be necessary if the Carnival of Roses is to meet with the success it deserves.

The following verse dedicated to the Carnival of Roses was submitted by Margaret Bowman of San Jose:

CAMPBELL CO... SUCCESS BROA...

Campbell Communit... held a very interesting ... at the library last week ... call of President Ralston.

Reports were made by ... representatives of various ... izations. Mr. Alison state... the campaign had brought ... most the entire budget $... as set by the Council some ... ago.

Mrs. L. F. Shaw read the n... utesa nd records of the previo... meeting. Mrs. Ellen R. Smi... gave a very interesting report ... the growth and service of the library one of the agencies of the chest. It is really remarkable how this community owend center has developed in the last few years.

Mrs. Louis Shelley, director of the County Camp Fire girls told of the benefits gained through this agency.

President Godfrey, Campaign Manager Mortensen, and Secretary Rainwater of the County Community Chest were present and expressed themselves well pleased with the demonstration and results obtained by the Campbell Council, the first to be organized and successfully operated by a small community in the United States. Mr. Rainwater stated that Campbell had received more commendable advertising through its Council's success than the funds could buy in space advertising. Many of the larger cities of the United States are watching with interest the progress of our own organization, which has successfully completed several campaigns and handled its own funds most efficiently.

One great principle of the plan is that no one working for the good of the Council gets a penny. All labor is for love of the caues. False statements have been made of big salaries and commissions. The books are open for investigation and every cent is well accounted for.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

The Choir of the Congregational church tendered their pastor a surprise Friday evening, in honor of his birthday.

This being the time for the regular Choir practice a delicious supper was prepared in the church kitchen and a beautiful birthday table set in the dining room. Four long tables were set in a solid rectangle with an artistically decorated table Christmas tree for center piece. Hanginp above was a large Christmas bell from which red streamers were draped to the four corners of the table. Four glass candle sticks tied with red bows, holding red and white candles and set in a wreath of toyonberries, which was very attractive. Name cards bore asprig of red berries and marked the places for thirty-eight participants.

On the pretext, which was a true one, that Mr. Pugh, who is driling the Choir, would be out earlier and the Choir would assemble earlier. Mr. Eckles came to the church to find it all set for his birthday supper.

The occasion proved a very pleasant one and helped to augment the feeling of friendship existing among the members.

There's roses in the Valley of Heart's Delight
That is blossoming just for you.
Its petals are dewy and velvet bright,,
And its heart has a golden hue.
There are waiting friends
Where the journey ends
With a hand clasp warm and true,
So come and play, if for but a day
There's a rose in our garden for you.

Life-Saver's Reward Small

Three cents was the financial measure of the joy experienced by a young man when a gypsy saved his sweetheart from drowning in the Danube, near Pressburg, Czechoslovakia. The young lovers had a quarrel, which ended with the young woman's jumping into the river. Her betrothed, becoming frantic, called wildly for help. The gypsy, taking in the situation, jumped into the water and brought the girl ashore. Her lover expressed his joy at the prompt rescue and then handed the hero one Czech crown, equivalent to 3 cents.

Patience Pays

"There are only a few investors," says John Moody in the Forbes Magazine, "who seem to have the patience and the courage to resist the temptation of investing their money at the wrong time. They appear to think that if one waits before investing, worthwhile opportunities will surely slip by and that they will have lost their chance to get the best out of their capital.

"The investment market will always be with us, and new opportunities for wise investment come along just as fast as old opportunities disappear."

A CHRISTMAS MESSAGE

When the Christmas bells are ringing forth their glad tidings of great joy and of peace on earth, goodwill to men, it is indeed a hopeless heart that is not thrilled by their appeal. The note of rejoicing they send forth upon the air confound the pessimist and place him in a period of apostasy to his creed of negation. He lives in a better day than he lived in yesterday and in a brighter world—a day of festival and merriment, a world of gentleness and cheerfulness; and if he does not fully realize this his in an incurable case.

Even the disciples of such apostles at discontent and gloom as Shaw and Ibsen, as well as all that modern brood of synics, skeptics, iconoclasts and railers against worthy institutions—people whose ill-founded confidence in their own superiority has led them into that vague cult which they call "the intelligentsia"—must be moved somewhat, in spite of themselves, by the spirit of this happy season.

Man is a better creature than he thinks. Always he wishes to be good. Though he may disappoint himself and his fellows by steering a wayward course at times, he constantly is returning to the polar star of his ideal. The idealism of a serious people such as ours is of a character which thoughtful minds love to contemplate. And when they see such evidences of the renewal of faith as abound at this season they also see that "steady gain of man" so notably remarked by the hopeful Whittier.

But with this renewal of faith in the God who never yet deserted us there comes to us, on this day, which sets a new milestone for Christianity, lurking thoughts of our shortcomings. We have made great gains for our race—yes, but they well might have been greater. In our pursuit of happiness, which so many of us mistook for mere pleasure we have been too mindful of our own good—too full of thoughts of self. At this season our pursuit of happiness takes the unusual turn of planning for the happiness of others, and the reaction upon ourselves is felt in a greater satisfaction than we have known at other times.

Good will abounds today. Why not all the year around? Why not keep Christmas every day—a holiday of the heart if not of the hand? Goodwill is not a bit of weak sentimentalism of which valorous human nature should be ashamed. It is a real, inspirational force with tremendous psychological possibilities for the uplift of the race. It is the strongest incentive to the application of the Golden Rule.

NO CONFLICT WITH TRUTH

Dr. Robert A. Millikan, noted scientist and Nobel prize winner, and David Starr Jordan, president emeritus of Stanford university, both agree, in substance, that there is no conflict between science and religion. This alone does not settle the question; but if religion is true, as we believe it is, and if scientific deductions are based upon facts, as we believe they should be, then both religion and science ought to be reconciled as compatible.

Strictly speaking, there never can be any conflict between one truth or another. The fault has been merely a failure to harmonize the two.

Upon Christmas Day

By WILLIAM LUFF, in The Christian

A STAR peeped forth upon Christmas Eve,
And told of that other Star:
Whose beams shine bright, through the world's dark night,
And scatter the shadows far.

A snowdrop bloomed upon Christmas Day,
And told of that spotless flower:
Whose perfume pure, should all frosts endure,
And brighten Earth's wintry hour.

The bells rang out upon Christmas Day,
And their message came a call
To worship the Son of the Highest One,
Who came with good will to all.

The holly berries on Christmas Day,
Blushed red in their fadeless green:
For their coral red, shewed the blood-drops shed.
As they shone the barbed leaves between.

A feast was spread upon Christmas Day,
And mirrored the feast He spread,
Who was born that He might our Banquet be,
The True and the Living Bread.

A son came home upon Christmas Day,
A son from a far off land:
And he told once more, of God's open door,
The kiss and the welcoming Hand.

A babe was born upon Christmas Day,
And the speechless infant told,
Of the manger Child, that in beauty smiled,
On that first glad day of old.

Six Puppies, Nellie's Present for Her Mistress

THERE was to be no Christmas party for little Suzanne Hansen. The family was in dire financial difficulties and it was mutually agreed among them all that for this one Christmas there would be no exchange of gifts. Suzanne was disappointed that there would be no surprises, but she comforted herself with the thought that she would at least have Nellie, her faithful dog, to play with Christmas Day. Nellie had been given to her the Christmas before by her uncle and she had been Suzanne's constant companion up until about a month ago when the dog was sent away—"to the hospital," her mother had explained. Suzanne had been most unspeakably lonely all that month with no pal, and had been counting the days till Christmas when she was promised the dog would be hers again.

Christmas morning when the doorbell rang, Suzanne flew down the stairs to answer. There was an excited cry of joy. "Oh mummy, come down and see what's here." There in a basket brought by the boy from the dog hospital was Nellie with six little puppies just like her. Suzanne was in love with the pups.

"They're just a Christmas gift for you from Nellie," said the boy and closed the door behind him.—Marion R. Reagan.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT HAPPENS IF YOU SAVE $10 A MONTH?

Consult the little table in the next paragraph. Clip it out and open a Savings Account in the Mercantile Trust Company of California next pay day. We suggest beginning in a small way because we know that once the savings habit is acquired you will keep everlastingly at it.

$10 deposited each month brings these results:

Time	Total Deposits	Interest	Total Savings
One Year	$ 120 00	$ 2 60	$ 122 60
Five Years	600 00	64 54	664 54
Ten Years	1200 00	274 60	1474 60
Fifteen Years	1800 00	662 09	2462 06
Twenty Years	2400 00	1265 82	3662 82

If you can spare more than $10 a month, so much greater will be your return, but Savings Accounts, which earn Four per cent interest, may be opened for as little as One Dollar. Anyhow, make the start for any amount within your means.

Construction work on the Dumbarton bridge, connecting the peninsula with Alameda county by spanning San Francisco bay, is now half completed, it was announced by Engineer Frank Cortelyou. The span will join the points of Newark, in Alameda county, and Dumbarton point, near Redwood City, San Mateo county. By July it will be ready for use by motor vehicles, Cortelyou stated. The engineer estimated that more than forty miles will be cut from the distance between Oakland and San Francisco via the peninsula highway by the new bridge. The bridge will cost $2,000,000.

Selling Christmas

BEFORE anything can be sold, we must persuade the other fellow to buy. Hence in this commercial age we have carried the principle of "sold" into almost the spiritual realm. When we fall in love with an idea or inspiration we say that we are sold on it.

Christmas, then, is the greatest of all special sales. At this season the thought of brotherly love is brought to the attention of the world. No other annual sale was ever so successful, or ever will be, as when we are all asked to buy the Big Idea,

Miss Alice McCaughey, who has been teaching at Corona, arrived Friday to spend the holidays with her mother.

George Benner, athletic instructor in the Pomona City schools arrived home last week to spend his vacation.

Mrs .J. L. Hagelin, who has had an extremely severe case of muscular rheumatism for several weeks is slowly improving.

Courtland Watson, who has been at Tucson, Ariz., for some months is visitng his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Watson.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Archibald and children came over from Modesto to enjoy Christmas with Grandpa and Grandma Speegle.

Mrs. W. R. Williams was unfortunate to fall and break her wrist. As Mr. Williams is an invalid it makes it doubly hard for her.

Miss Hancie Naylor and her mother left Tuesday morning by auto to spend part of the holiday vacation with relatives at Newport Beach.

Miss Myrtle Arnott left Monday with friends for an auto trip south, where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Paul Darling and family at Los Angeles.

Miss Vernie Darrow of the high school faculty, who has been at her home in Berkeley this week will spend next week with friends at Pacific Grove.

Mrs. Henderson and Miss Helen and Miss Elizabeth Denbigh of Berkely were guests of Miss Ruth Henderson of the school faculty last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Anders Larsen and Miss May Farley of the Bay Cities are home to spend Christmas with their mother, Mrs. Catherine Farley, who has been ill for several days.

Attractive and educational colored slides of "English Shrines" will be shown at the Congregational Church Sunday evening. Special music associated with the slides will be given. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. E. A. Bowers of the Press office went to Los Angeles Thursday with her brother and his wife to spend a week with relatives. I. L. Smith is assisting with the News paper during her absence.

The Congregational Sunday School enjoyed its annual Christmas exercises Wednesday. A program was given by the children and Mr. George E. Shiras, of San Jose told an original Christmas story that was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ainsley have moved into their new home on Hamilton Avenue and are busy getting settled for the family Christmas dinner. This new home is one of the finest in the valley, another beautiful asset to our community, for which a just pride is felt. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ainsley are occupying the family residence on North Second Street.

Moreland Clubs Active

Moreland district, which is noted for its community and card parties enjoyed a "Rube Dance Party" recently, under the auspices of the P. T. A. Many old time costumes were brought to light and much merriment was around over some of "make-ups." The judges awarded the prize for the prettiest costume to Mrs. Peach; the most original, George C. Payne; the best sustained, Mrs. H. D. Owen and the most comical, H. Freitas.

The Moreland Good Will Club held its meeting last week at the Club house, with the president Mrs. F. U. Zettle, presiding. After a short business meeting, a report of the county federation meeting, held at Palo Alto, December 9, was given by the delegates. It was decided to try to arrange for an afternoon at the would take cheer and goodies to the boys. A reading, particularly adopted to Christmas, was well given by Miss Sutton of Saratoga avenue.

The speaker of the afternoon Mrs. Fremont Older, in a charming manner, talked on "Spanish Names in California," beginning with the state name and then coming direct to Santa Clara valley, where many of the beautiful Spanish names were explained and early incidents mentioned. There was a strong sentiment expressed to retain these historical names.

Following Mrs. Older's most enjoyable talk, little Betty Noftz of San Jose entertained the ladies with a lovely Spanish dance in costume, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. L. A. Shad. All the members of the club acted as hostesses this being an open meeting.

ALLOGGI-HANCOCK

The following account of the wedding of James Fraser Hancock and Miss Linda Alloggi will be of interest to many of our readers as Fraser lived here for a number of years and is still a member of the Charity Lodge F. and A. M. of Campbell.

Hhe marriage of Miss Linda Alloggi, daughter of A. Alloggi, and James Fraser Hancock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Enock Hancock, was celebrated Saturday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Fred Toste.

In the decorations, the holiday idea was carried out, although all the appointments were very simple. The service was read by Rev. Fred Morrison of the First Congregational church, and afterward a buffet luncheon was served.

The bride was attired in a dress of golden brown silk and her hat was a combination of cloth of gold and blue silk. The pumps matched her dress. She carried a bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses. Mrs. Henrietta Ryan, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and she was dressed in blue. Her hat was silver cloth, and her bouquet was tiny pink rosebuds. Clyde Cutfin attended the groom as best man.

During the ceremony Mrs. W. Horwarth played several violin selections, and Miss Evelyn McClay accompanied her on the piano. Guests were immediate friends and relatives of the couple.

After a motor honeymoon in the south Mr. and Mrs. Hancock will make their home in San Jose, where Mr. Hancock is a well known business man, and his bride is a popular member of the staff of the city schools.

Miss Evelyn Henry was here Sunday visiting friends.

Miss Mary Fablinger has been ill all this week with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wolff have gone to Exeter to enjoy Christmas with relatives.

A CALL TO PRAYER

As her official act, Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn, New York, newly elected president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, has issued a call to prayer, which was also signed by the other national officers.

The call follows: "Prayer has been the practice and source of power of the W. C. T. U. from the Crusade days until now.

"We call upon all local unions to meet together for prayer on Jan. 7, Thursday of the Week of Prayer, for the purpose of prayer for God's blessing upon the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, its leaders, and the organization; upon the plans for law observance and law enforcement; upon the authorities to whom is entrusted the responsibility for law enforcement; upon the American people that they may realize their responsibility to obey the law themselves, and to support the Constitution. Read John 14:14."

Campbell Town basketeers will play the fast Y Gold team Saturday evening at the Campbell gym. An admission of 25c will be charged.

HI WINS MORE LAURELS

Campbell High is still heading this list in its basketball winnings in the P. A. League. Friday evening the unlimited aggreation, in the closest game of the season defeated San Mateo by a 26-24 score. The 130's were not so good owing to weakness in basket throwing and lost 12 to 15.

Saturday the two teams with the D. H. Cramer family and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Noddin went to Santa Cruz for an outing. At supper the bunch were guests of Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Merrill at their Twin Lakes cottage. In the evening both teams played the Santa Cruz fives, winning both games, 130's by 10 to 6 and the "big boys" by 21 to 7 score.

ussia Now Plans Bigger Vool Production

A Russian family of the prosperous farming peasant class.

isit to the United States, at ie, of Michael S. Pereferko- manager of the live-stock de- ent of the Soviet Russian gov- nt, Prof. Michel F. Ivanoff of oscow agricultural university, N. N. Klebnik, official inter- r, carries with it all the signifi- ce of a step to progressive and dern methods in the new Russia.

According to these three repre- ntatives of the Soviet government, ussia now has about 80,000,000 heep and hundreds of millions of head of other live stock.

Rambouillet rams have been purchased by them, not to increase the number of sheep, but to improve quality. It is expected that a better grade of wool will be produced by crossing of breeds. In this connection, sheep shearing machinery was bought to supplant the old-time hand blades. This in itself is expected to increase the wool crop about 7%, not because the machine shears closer than hand blades, but because it removes the wool evenly and in an unbroken blanket, leaving no ridges on the sheep.

Russia is anxious to enlarge its textile business with a view to producing its own wool for manufacturing purposes. Another committee from that country has been studying textile mills in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

Admittedly, there is great need in Russia for farming implements as the Russian farmer now has practically all the land he wants, but is unable to develop all of his ground because of lack of farm machinery.

Another great need is dairy machinery such as milking machines, cream separators, pasteurizing machinery, horse and cow clipping machines and butter-making machinery.

M. Pereferkovitsh said he intended to buy more than 5,000 sheep, but owing to misinformation as to the best buying season, he arrived in this country too late to get all he wished, and so expects that next year as many as twenty men will be sent to this country to make these purchases.

Russia is doing everything possible to improve farming and dairying methods. Graduates of agricultural schools are teaching farmers and dairymen modern methods and the use of modern machinery.

Many things point to Russia as one of the world's great future sources of dairy products.

In the old days it was poor policy to lock the barn after the horse is stolen, but now the economic welfare of a lot of people would be considerably enhanced if they occidentally left their garages unlocked.

Trade in Wild Animals

As the wild animal zoos and circuses are constantly being depleted by death and accident, it is necessary to have constantly in the field catching new specimens, a small army of big wild-game hunters. Lariats were used in catching many of these animals, but even the strongest rope was unavailing when it came to holding the rhinoceros. Usually that ponderous animal is captured by means of a pitfall.

GOLDEN RULE AND WORLD PEACE

By DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

President of the Federal Council of Churches

In this powerful appeal for the adoption of the Golden Rule as a guiding principle in international relations, the great radio preacher holds up as an example in constructive international charity the work of the Near East Relief, which makes its annual appeal for the support of the American people on Golden Rule Sunday, observed annually in December.

NOTHING in the history of the American people of recent years so becomes them as their attitude towards the unhappy and persecuted people who have been the beneficiaries of the great work of the Near East Relief. At this season when the annual appeal for the support of this work is made, through the observance of Golden Rule Sunday, it is an overwhelmingly gratifying thing to hear the reports of the triumphs and successes of this philanthropy.

I have been hearing of the horrors of the Near East from the days of my early youth, when Mr. Gladstone conducted his memorable campaign in which he denounced the Turk and urged that the Turks should be thrust bag and baggage out of their country. The horrors have continued ever since, but our country has been an instrument in alleviating them by contributions out of its abundance to the crucial need of the distressed orphans and what few unhappy relatives they have left to them.

We can do no better thing than to give for those who are in need, and thus make such merchandise out of our material welfare as to have credentials for the life which is to come. I do not take the attitude that there is anything much to praise about the American people in this matter, though I am proud of them, as we all are. It would have been a strange thing if we had not done as we have done.

When you think of the millions which are squandered in this country upon feminine devices for beautifying—which do not always succeed in realizing their object—when you think of the vast cost of trying to make mutton look like lamb, when you think of the multitude of surplus things with which we surround ourselves in daily life, and then see this work for far-off children, I think you will agree with me that even though our political promises have not always been realized, at any rate we have tried to retain the credit of our people by contributing generously to this work, which we must continue to sustain

As a churchman, I may be permitted to point out that the Near East Relief has contributed enormously to the cause of church unity. At Stockholm a few weeks ago I had the privilege of conferring with all the patriarchs and metropolitans and archbishops of the Greek church. They assured me that they have been drawn toward the West not by the common consent of intellectual minds nor by the doctors of the church, but rather through the work of Near East Relief. That work has won the hearts of great bishops as well as refugees and politicians. Truly we have seen the truth of the saying that a little child shall lead them. The little Armenian orphan, Zadi, whom thousands have heard sing and talk at the preliminary Golden Rule dinners in a hundred cities of this country, is a five-year-old representation of thousands of these Eastern peoples, whom we have approached not with theology or dogma, but with those deeds of mercy which are the very essence of true religion.

There is a lesson of world peace in this philanthropic approach to the hearts of men. We must follow it up with this decision—that we will not allow the state in the future to dictate to the church or to any body of men as to what shall be their attitude toward peace and war. We must take our patriotism from the preaching of the prophets. Unless we want a fund like this every fifty years to repair the recurrent waves of slaughter and devastation, we must cling to the spirit of the Golden Rule. The quality of mercy is not strained. It droppeth as the gentle rain from heaven. It blesseth him that gives and him that takes. It becomes the throned monarch better than his crown.

THE KIND THAT COUNTS

He—Think we'll have a green Christmas?

She—I hope so—a "long green" one.

Maple Popcorn Balls

Pop three quarts of corn and discard hard kernels. Melt one tablespoonful of butter in a saucepan, add one cupful of maple sirup and one-half cupful of sugar. Bring to boiling point and let boil until mixture will become brittle when tried in cold water. Pour mixture gradually, stirring all the while, over corn which has been sprinkled with salt. Shape into balls, using very little pressure.

Then and Now

The old-fashioned boy who used to get an apple, an orange, a handful of mixed nuts, a dime's worth of powder and shot or a new pair of home-knit socks for Christmas now has a grandson who must have a new car, a diamond ring, and a check. Times change.

At Christmas Time

Mr. Smiles—But why do you expect a Christmas box from me? Surely I have had no dealings with you?

Boy—Yes, sir—please, sir, you tripped over my 'oop last week.

For Little Folks

It seems as though Santa Claus has gone to more trouble making things for the little girls than the little boys this year. There are complete tea sets of lusterware, electric sets that really cook food in sufficient quantities for a good sized tea party, real cedar chests, floor lamps, and sewing tables, all just as nicely finished as the grown-ups' furniture.

Charity at Home

"Pardon me, sir, I am soliciting for our Christmas rummage sale. What do you do with your old clothes?"

"Why, I brush them and fold them carefully at night, and I put them on again in the morning."

Irate

The bride hurled the cookbook out of the window.

After it went the remains of a Christmas pie.

"Now," said she, "just let me get one crack at the fellow who invented the phrase 'easy as pie.'"

The Christmas Sock

Christmas Eve is about the only time a stocking is nearer whole than hole.
